February 22, 2024

Lakewood, Colorado – Himmelman Construction, a privately held, Fourth Generation, commercial contractor is awarded the renovation of Pomona High School. This Pomona school has been a 9-12 high school and after the renovation that is happening this summer they will be accommodating grades 6-12. Himmelman Construction's Vice President of Construction Operations, Eric Kriebel says, "With the success of Oberon Middle School and Ralston Valley High School last year, Himmelman is excited to once again partner with Jefferson County Schools on another fast-paced summer project.

Notably as a Father I take special interest in this project as my Son is on Pomona's Youth Wrestling Team and looks to attend Pomona for High School in a couple of years." Himmelman Construction is excited to be a part of creating yet another great environment for learning within the Jefferson county public school system.
